Postal Workers Get Two Full Holidays

News Capsules

At the last reported count, Andover residents had contributed $2,981.30 to the 1966 Christmas Seal Campaign. A total of $47,329.55 had been reported by communities served by the Essex County Health Assn., Inc. The goal: $90,000.

The manager, with the approval of the Board of Selectmen, has asked the Planning Board to prepare a "priorities list" designating the order in which major extensions of the sanitary sewer system should be scheduled and approximately when they should be undertaken.

The Punched seal will appear on future diplomas issued at Andover High School. The School

Postal employees in Andover and across the U.S. will observe the Christmas and New Year's Day as full holidays, Postmaster Francis J. Mooney said this week.

Because both Sunday observances are followed by national legal holidays, postal workers will have a rare opportunity to have an uninterrupted celebration, the postmaster explained.

Mail will be picked up on both Dec. 25 and Jan. 1 from two locations in Andover, however. Special delivery, airmail or regular mail deposited in the boxes in front of the Main Post Office, Shawshen Village station and Ballardvale station WILL be collected at 12 noon on the two Sunday holidays and processed immediately. Mail, other than special delivery and perishables, will not be delivered in Andover or elsewhere, however, until Tuesday, Dec. 27 and Jan. 3, following the legal observance of both holidays.

Though the Andover office has not handled any appreciable increase in parcel post this year, it has processed a record volume incoming and outgoing Christmas mail.

Between Dec. 3 and Dec. 18, the main office and its branches processed 656,000 pieces of outgoing mail, up from 634,000 for the same period in 1965. This is a 3.4% increase.

The volume of incoming mail rose 13.8%, from 770,000 to 867,000, within the same key period.

A crew of 72 persons has been at work through the mail build-up, twelve of them holiday workers.

Andover Man Appointed To Hancock Post

John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Co. will establish Jan. 1 a new developments department, President Robert E. Slater said today.

Slater said the department will play an important role in the company's long term plans for growth and expansion.

The new organization will be headed by Arthur G. Weaver of 75 Cheever Cir., formerly a vice president in the group actuarial and underwriting department.

Slater said the role of Weaver's

Raytheon Workers Resume Production

Virtually all electrical workers at Raytheon Co.'s Hawk missile installation in Andover returned to work early Wednesday, ending a 39 day strike that affected roughly 10,000 employees throughout the electronic manufacturer's 12-community organization.

A company spokesman at the Andover plant reported that absenteeism in the departments affected by the strike was running below the normal average. All but some 100 of the 1850 members of Local 1505, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers were back on the job, he said. The normal rate of absenteeism in parts of the operation involved is three percent.

Members of the International Brotherhood voted 3-1 Tuesday afternoon to accept a three-year contract proposed a day earlier in Washington by Federal and state mediators.

Agreed to was a contract that calls for pay increases that will total 17.5 percent over the three year period: 6.14% in the first year; 5.73% in the second year; and 5.70% in the third year.

Raytheon is preparing checks for the returning employees which will cover the retroactive portion of the pay increases, the 10-week period between the time the IBEW contract expired and the first day of the strike, Nov. 13. The company said these checks will average about $50 are being issued in advance of the holiday so that the production workers will have "something in their pockets" prior to Christmas. The first regular pay will be distributed on Dec. 29.

Town - Contractor Giles Agree On Warehouse Sale

The Town this week agreed to buy the former Tyer warehouse property on North Main Street for $206,255, promising that the sale would be consummated no later than Dec. 31 of this year.

Contractor C. Lincoln Giles, owner of the property told the Board of Selectmen Monday that he would accept its latest offer for the some two acres of land if the town would eliminate from the sales agreement previous references to "suitable and stable grade." He said there could be a question as to whose definition of these terms would be mutually acceptable.

In his letter of acceptance, Giles appealed to the board's "sense of decency and fair play" in asking that the town pay him, outside the terms of sale, $3,619 to cover mortgage, tax and fire insurance expenses he has incurred since the October Town Meeting vote to acquire the Main Street location. This request has been taken under advisement.

The price to be paid Giles incorporates two figures: an appraisal of $188,255, which was prepared for the town and $18,000 to cover the cost of demolishing the brick warehouse shell which stands on the frontage.

What Giles accepted was the second of two Board offers. He initially asked a total of $234,292.50 for the package agreement. The Board rebutted with an offer of $202,000, to which Giles responded with a counter offer

It is the Selectmen's intention to build a central fire station and police station on a portion of the acreage. Funds are already available for construction of the police headquarters, but an earlier appropriation for a fire station was tied to a recinded site article and must therefore be re-requested. Giles formal letter of acceptance reads as follows:

"After careful consideration of your offer of Dec. 17, 1966 and in the light of my own needs and interest as well as that of the Town of Andover in the possible acquisition of the site for municipal facilities, and having the uncertainty of a possible land taking and or damages and the ensuing legal and technical time consuming entanglements in mind, I have decided to accept your offer of $206,255 provided that all reference to suitable and stable grade be deleted.

"It is my understanding that my acceptance of your proposal as qualified herein creates an obligation on my part to deliver to the town a clear title to the property and to demolish the existing structures on the property. In connection with this demolition, it is my further understanding that I will remove all inflammable material and debris from the site. The foundation of the building will be removed to one foot below existing grades. Solid or structural fill will be left on the site for spreading or grading by others.

"My acceptance of this offer is contingent on an immediate purchase and sale agreement entered into with the town and the sale to be consummated in the month of December." . . .

"As an addendum to a voluntary basis to this agreement I appeal to your sense of decency and fair play by assuming on behalf of the town as their elected officials for carrying out the wishes of the special town meeting, the following costs incurred by the two-and-one-half-month period since the vote. This wait stopped construction but expenses went on: Mortgage, $2,308.50; taxes, $622.50; fire insurance premium, $688; fire insurance premium, $688; total, $3,619. This is not to be considered an increase to your offer but a responsibility for your respected office."

To keep things moving, Mooney said he has had work units set up in the basement boiler room and storage areas. As of Tuesday, the office was "all caught up" and deliveries were current in virtually all areas.

Former Andover Resident Is Ordained In Vermont

Services were held recently in St. Johnsbury, Vt. for the ordination of Rev. L. Arthur Domingue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Domingue of 51 Walnut Ave.

Rev. Edward S. Treat, conference minister for the Vermont conference of the United Church of Christ delivered the charge to the church and the sermon was presented by Rev. Kermit Morrison, pastor of the North Thetford and Post Mills, Vt. United Church of Christ parishes.

E. Dean Finney, vice moderator of the Caledonia Association of Congregational Churches, delivered the charge to the minister. Other ministers participating included:

Rev. J. Allen Bradford, minister of the Free Christian Church, Andover; Rev. David E. L. Brown, pastor of the Danville Congregational and North Danville Baptist Churches, Vt.; Rev. Frank R. Cutter, pastor of the First Congregational Church, Milford; Rev. Laurence L. Hucksoll, pastor of the South Congregational Church in St. Johnsbury; Rev. David Jordan, pastor of the North Congregational Church in St. Johnsbury.

Rev. Domingue became pastor of the yoked parish of the Concord Community Church, Third Congregational Church, and the Lower Waterford Congregational Church in June 1965. He attended Phillips Andover Academy, Trinity College and Andover Newton Theological School. During seminary at Andover Newton, he was minister of Youth at the First Congregational Church, Milford, under the direction of Rev. Frank Cutter, one of the participating clergy in the ordination.

Rev. Domingue and his wife, the former Joanne Griffith of Woburn, Calif., and their infant daughter, Susan, live in East St. Johnsbury, Vt.

Mr. Mooney's statement read, in part:

"During this holiday season the Post Office Department has handled record volumes of mail. Postal Personnel have worked tirelessly for over two months in handling the unprecedented mailings and have made extra efforts in guaranteeing delivery of mail to our armed forces, not only in Viet Nam but all over the world.

"The postal employees are deserving of a well-earned respite from the long and irregular hours worked during this holiday season. . .

"Experience has demonstrated that virtually no business mail and very small amounts of personal mail are deposited on Christmas Day and New Year's Day. Since mail deposited on these two Sundays this holiday season will not be delivered prior to the following Tuesdays, an excellent opportunity arises to annul certain postal operations on the two Sundays in order to afford the maximum number of postal employees the warmth and friendship of home, family and friends on these two significant holidays."

Boys Receive Sports Letters

Two boys from Andover have been awarded letters for their participation on this year's varsity and junior league sports.

They are: William V. Rokicki, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry V.

Rokicki of 33 Brown St., varsity football and Eric H. Whyte, a sophomore, son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Whyte of Phillips Academy, junior league football.

The awards were presented before the entire student body at a special assembly held recently at the independent secondary school.

COFFMAN EARNS VARSITY LETTER

Thomas Coffman son of Mr. and Mrs. David R. Coffman of 3 Central Ln., received a varsity letter in football for the 1966 season. Coffman played defensive tackle for Swarthmore.

The Swarthmore College football team was undefeated this season and the Southern college division champ for the second year in a row. Swarthmore has not lost a conference game since the 1964 season.

Three Attend Policy Meet

Charles W. DeBell and Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Gable of Andover attended a community leaders seminar sponsored by the Foreign Policy Assn. in New York City earlier this month.

DeBell is director of manufacturing operations for Western Electric Co., Merrimack Valley works and Mr. Gable is executive vice president of Craig Systems Corp.

The program included discussions led by U. S. Mission staff officers on the role of the United States in the United Nations, the economic aspects of the United States foreign policy and the role of the United Nations in this field.

In attendance were approximately one hundred community leaders representing a cross section of business, professional, educational and political groups throughout the country.

The meeting, one of a series of programs sponsored by the Foreign Policy Assn., was designed to involve leading U. S. citizens in greater understanding and awareness of U. S. foreign policy issues.

The Foreign Policy Assn. is a private nonprofit, nonpartisan, educational institution designed to stimulate wide interest in international relations, and assist in the development of greater understanding of foreign policy issues confronting the United States.

Consumption of nickel in the free world is estimated at a record 730 million pounds in 1965, exceeding consumption of the metal in 1964 by 60 million pounds.

Pre-Schoolers Study Holidays

The season's holidays, both Chanukah and Christmas, have been discussed and celebrated by the young members of Free Church Co-operative Pre School.

Mrs. Laurence Spiegel explained the celebration of Chanukah and the meaning of the lighting of the Menorah candles, along with the songs that are sung during the lighting ceremony.

Mrs. Max Russell has been in charge of the school's Christmas festivities and has had Mrs. Robert Kent and Mrs. William Peterson working with her on handicraft projects.

Mrs. Clinton Seeley, membership chairman, has issued a reminder to prospective Pre-school families for the 1967 school year that it is obligatory for mothers of potential students to observe at the cooperative for one morning before registering.

As a special feature, members of the Glee Club, including Scott Clark, Beth Driscoll, Cynthia Haefling, Michael Shea and Cheryl White sang "White Christmas" accompanied by David Spector on the melody bells.

During the second part of the program, a group recitation of the "Shepherd's Christmas Story" was given by Kevin Carney, Michael Cataudella, Scott Clark, Thomas Copeland, Ronald Cushing, Stephen Danforth, Thomas Meuse, Kevin Mulcahy, Douglas Raymond Rice, David Spector, Rodney Stedman.

Others taking part in the program were Lisa Cox, Andrea Duca, Joseph DeManche, Greg Fuller, Paul Hoffman, Mary Moore, Doreen Nardone, Mary Neil, Ann Palmieri, Perrault, Mark Raye, Laurie Mond, Mary Ellen Russell, Ellen Smith, and Lynn Wern.

The program closed with the entire class singing a group Christmas carols.

RC Accepting Relief Funds

The Andover Red Cross will receive funds for transmittal to the Italian flood victims. Donors may specify their use or leave it to the Italian Red Cross or American Red Cross to determine their usage. Under certain conditions these are tax deductible.

The local Chapter will also assist you in making welfare inquiries. Since communications are out and may be for sometime these messages must be handled in a specific manner.

The American Red Cross has already made cash contributions to the Italian Red Cross amounting to $25,000. Vaccines, tetanus toxoid and tetanus antitoxin given by American drug firms have been shipped. These are valued at approximately $50,000. Underwear and sweat shirts valued at $4,600 have been released from the American Red Cross Youth stores in Europe. U. S. Ambassador G. Frederick Reinhardt has authorized over $100,000 from disaster funds.

Questions regarding assistance to the flood victims should be referred to the chapter by telephone or in person. The office hours are from 9:30 to 4:30 Mondays through Fridays.

Aliens Must List Addresses

Aliens who will be in the United States on January 1 are required by the Immigration and Nationality Act which requires that they list their address during the month of January.

Even if there has been no change in address since the last report card at any United States Post Office or Immigration and Naturalization Service Office.

This law does not apply to those with diplomatic status nor to those accredited to the United States. Any alien who fails to report address is liable to be taken into custody and deported. Such alien may also be fined or imprisoned before deportation.

Census Shows Jobs Plentiful In Essex

Employment in Essex County, rose 1 percent between March 1964 and March 1965 according to one of the nation's economic indicators "County Business Patterns" 1965 - Massachusetts issued recently by the U. S. Department of Commerce's Bureau of the Census. County Business Patterns, now published annually, uses payroll information gathered for the first quarter of each calendar year by the Social Security Administration covering employment in most kinds of business and industry but excluding notably agricultural and government workers and the self-employed.

The number of employees in the county in businesses covered by the report for March 1965 totaled 166,303 as against 164,933 for the same month a year earlier. First quarter payrolls for the two years were $192.9 million and $196.1 million respectively.

Manufacturing, the largest group of employers in the county, reported a March 1965 total of 85,678 employees and 3-month payrolls of $114.9 million retail trade, the county's second largest group of employers had a total of 33,008 employees and $26.9 million in quarterly payrolls.

The county ranked fourth among the 14 counties in the state in March 1965 in number of employees in businesses covered in that report. The leading counties in the state in this respect were - Suffolk, 411,157; Middlesex, 364,838; Worcester, 184,717; Essex, 166,303 and Hampden, 134,042.

Comparable figures for Massachusetts as a whole show the state's employment rose some 3 percent from 1,611,643 to 1,658,526 between March 1964 and March 1965. Total January-through-March 1965 payrolls amounted to $2,044.1 million as against $1,989.2 million for the previous year's first quarter. For the state, manufacturing led with 666,571 employees and a quarterly payroll of $911.4 million.

More detailed data for the state, counties, and metropolitan areas by type of industry and employment-size are shown in "County Business Patterns, 1965-Massachusetts" for sale ($0.60) at U. S. Gov't printing office, Washington, D. C. 20402 or at any U. S. Dept. of Commerce field office. Other state reports and a U. S. summary range in price from $.25 to $2.00.

Elsewhere

Three color and sound films for children, eight and over, will be shown at the Ipswich River Wildlife Sanctuary (Massachusetts Audubon Society) on Perkins Road in Topsfield, Wednesday, Dec. 21 at 10 a.m. "Our Wildlife Heritage" is New England wildlife through four seasons, including slow motion sequences of a grouse family defending itself against a raccoon, a hawk gliding in for a kill and geese landing on ice. "Beaver Dam" has unusual close-ups of beavers at work. Photographed in a Connecticut sanctuary, "Yours for a Song" includes 18 different birds and their songs. Children under eight years of age are requested to bring a parent.

The National company of "Half a Sixpence", the Broadway musical starring Kenneth Nelson, starts a two week engagement at the Shubert Theatre, Boston, on Monday, Dec. 26 under the auspices of Touring Theatre Inc. Opening night performances 8 p.m., there after the evening showings will be 8:30 p.m. Matinees will be given Wednesday and Saturday at 2:30 p.m. A special holiday matinee will be given on Monday, Jan. 1 at 2:30 p.m., supplanting the usual Monday evening showing of the day. A smashing success in London and New York, "Half a Sixpence" is based in a tuneful, foot-tapping, light-hearted adaptation of H. G. Wells' famous novel, "Kipps".

People are in a holiday mood at this time of the year. There are parties everywhere. It is everyone's right to make merry and to drink, if he wishes. But it is not the right of a motorist to drink and to drive... so, if you plan to drink, do not plan to drive. Live to enjoy the rest of the holidays.

Loads of Christmas cheer, happiness and joy are our wishes to one and all this glorious Yuletide season.

Guard Offers Unique Plan

Sophomores attending non-ROTC colleges and universities in Massachusetts are again eligible for a unique National Guard program leading to a commission as a second lieutenant in the Massachusetts Army National Guard, according to the State's Adjutant General, Maj. Gen. Joseph M.

Ambrose.

The special program was initiated with great success two years ago and experienced even wider participation last year from students at the State's 40 four-year colleges that do not offer a Reserve Officer Training Program. The plan allows a young man to complete three years of his active reserve obligation while attending college. At the completion of the special officer candidate course, he is commissioned a second lieutenant. He then attends a branch course at an Active Army school and is assigned to a neighborhood Guard unit for the remainder of his reserve obligation.

Interested sophomores are requested to make letter application to the Commandant of the Massachusetts Military Academy, 925 Commonwealth Avenue, Boston 02215, by Jan. 15, 1967. The application should include name, address, college, class and date of birth. Applicants will receive individual instructions by mail regarding a personal interview and administrative details.

Interested college sophomores are invited to visit the Academy. Classes will be in session during the weekend of Jan. 14 and 15, 1967.

If you must drink at a holiday celebration, let someone who has not been drinking drive you home. The Registry of Motor Vehicles approves of the holiday mood but enforcement officers will not tolerate driving after drinking.

Chinese Medical Practices
Subject For Channel 2 Film

The first films on medical practice in Communist China ever to be seen on American television will be shown on Channel 2's "Spectrum", Tuesdays, Jan. 31 and Feb. 7 at 6 p.m.

Originally produced by Radio-Television Francaise and re-edited with English language soundtrack by National Educational Television, the two-part film depicts traditional and bizarre techniques that are practiced today exactly as they have been for 2,000 years.

One of the most unusual elements of Chinese medicine is called acupuncture or injection. To show how it works, cameras watch a patient suffering from an eye ailment being treated with long needles which are thrust into her face surrounding the eye. Although the patient has received no anesthesia, the treatment is apparently painless. Another sequence demonstrates the use of needles on those suffering from rheumatism and on a sciatica patient who has failed to respond to treatment by modern physicians, despite the use of wonder drugs. In each case the patient claims his condition has been improved.

Like acupuncture, heat therapy or "moxa" is strange to Western medical practice; yet the Chinese have found it remarkably effective. As the camera watches, a patient suffering from high blood pressure is treated by physicians who place a piece of ginger on his skin. Wormwood is put on top of the ginger and then ignited with incense. After treatment the patient's blood pressure drops.

These are just two of the traditional techniques shown in the films. Meditation, gymnastics, breathing exercises and massage also play a major role in Chinese medicine. "Spectrum" takes viewers inside the Peking Academy of Medicine where ailments as varied as gastric ulcers, chronic nephritis and tuberculosis are treated.

The gymnastic exercises, are designed to relax or contract the organ which is the source of the ailment, viewers are told, and the exercises - depicted in close-up by the camera - have the long, sinuous grace of classical ballet.

Equally strange to the Westerner are the drugs of the traditional Chinese physician, who is seen using such exotic medication as tiger bones, stag horns, the human placenta, toads and roses.

The films point out that some 500,000 traditional doctors - restored to equal rank by Mao - now practice hand in hand with China's 100,000 modern physicians. Whether a patient will be treated by traditional or modern methods is usually decided after a joint consultation by practitioners of both schools, the film explains.

And perhaps the weirdest aspect of all is the two principles on which Chinese medicine is based: the concept of "yin-yang" decreeing that the human body is a little universe in which two diametrically opposed cosmic principles are frequently at war; and the conviction that vitality within the human body must be either repressed or stimulated to effect a cure. To change this vital energy, the Chinese use heat and injection, the two techniques that seem so foreign to modern medicine.

David Prowitt, NET executive producer for "Spectrum" narrates the films, which were edited by Donald Feldstein.

Celebrate the season as you wish - but do not get behind-the-wheel if you value your life and your license. Ring out the old and ring in the new, in safety.

Law enforcement officials now have a weapon to use in their efforts to combat abuse of certain medically important prescription drugs.

The weapon is the federal drug abuse control legislation, members of the West Elementary School were told at their last meeting. Robert L. Driscoll, a senior professional service representative for Smith Kline & French Laboratories of Philadelphia, one of the nation's major pharmaceutical firms.

Driscoll said his firm strongly supported passage of the new law and is ready to accept the additional work it will require to keep drugs out of illegal channels and available for medical use only.

The law, whose major provisions went into effect on Feb. 1, 1966, requires manufacturers and wholesalers who handle amphetamine (stimulant), barbiturate (depressant), and certain other prescription drugs to register with the federal government. Together with pharmacists and physicians who dispense medicine, they are required to make available to United States Food and Drug Administration inspectors records of sales and inventory of these drugs.

Only persons specifically mentioned in the law are allowed to possess such drugs. Illegal possession or sales are punishable, with particularly severe penalties for sales to persons under 18.

The law helps combat drug abuse by attacking the chief source of the abuse, illegal interstate traffic in drugs, the speaker said. He urged his listeners to see to it that the federal law is enforced.

Law enforcement officials now have the power to take action against the illegal sale, distribution and possession of amphetamine and barbiturate drugs, but their efforts will not be successful without our support. Nothing handicaps the police officer more than public apathy.

Support For Drug Law Urged By PTA Speaker

Law enforcement officials now have a weapon to use in their efforts to combat abuse of certain medically important prescription drugs.

The weapon is the federal drug abuse control legislation, members of the West Elementary School PTA were told at their last meeting.

Robert L. Driscoll, a senior professional service representative for Smith Kline & French Laboratories of Philadelphia, one of the nation's major pharmaceutical firms.

Driscoll said his firm strongly supported passage of the new law and is ready to accept the additional work it will require to keep drugs out of illegal channels and available for medical use only.

The law, whose major provisions went into effect on Feb. 1, 1966, requires manufacturers and wholesalers who handle amphetamine (stimulant), barbiturate (depressant), and certain other prescription drugs to register with the federal government. The law helps combat drug abuse by attacking the chief source of abuse, illegal interstate traffic in drugs, the speaker said. He urged his listeners to see to it that the federal law is enforced.

"Law enforcement officials now have the power to take action against the illegal sale, distribution and possession of amphetamine and barbiturate drugs, but their efforts will not be successful without our support. Nothing handicaps the police officer more than public apathy."

However, legislation and law enforcement, important as they are, will not wholly eradicate the "hidden sickness" of drug abuse, Driscoll declared, and added:

"The basic solution is to overcome people's need for escape hatches and kicks."

There is a "crying need" for a greater awareness of the danger inherent in misusing drugs, the speaker said.

"We should let young people know that drug abuse is a sordid escape hatch for people unwilling to face up to problems. Since youngsters often like to feel they're living dangerously, we should point out that there's nothing glamorous or dashing about a kid who steals his mother's weight-control pills or his father's high-blood-pressure remedy."

Church Uses Two Sources

"Local members of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints have a dual reason for celebrating the Christmas season," Cyril Poulson, bishop of the Georgetown Ward (parish) of the Church, said this week.

"In addition to the beautiful description of the events surrounding the birth of Christ as found in the Holy Bible," said Bishop Poulson, "we also have another source which describes some little known facts about the life of Christ and which we accept as scripture along with the Bible."

"The Book of Mormon is the religious history of a great nation that once existed on the American continent from approximately 600 B.C. to 400 A.D. This nation also had its Prophets who received revelation from God as did the Old and New Testament Prophets," Bishop Poulson explained.

"God revealed to them the same Gospel that he revealed to the Holy Land Prophets and they also knew of the birth, death and resurrection of Christ. Eventually Christ also appeared to them on this Western continent and taught them the same things he taught in Jerusalem," said Bishop Poulson.

Andover members of the Latter-day Saints Church are part of Bishop Poulson's congregation.

AYC Celtics Upset First Place Cougars

The Celtics pulled the upset of the season Saturday in an Andover Youth Center basketball game, defeating the first place Cougars 28-22 and creating a three-way tie for the lead position.

The Celtics, the Cougars and the Chargers all have 3-1 records.

The passes and plays of Capt. W. Boland and the scoring of Murphy and A. Naman (with 12 points each) sparked the Celtics offensive. For the Cougars, S. White 10 points and the fine all around play of T. Meuse were noteworthy.

The Chargers topped the Bullets 25-16. For the victory, A. Monach and K. O'Brien made 10 points each while B. Dufault and M. Johnson were also outstanding. For the losers, C. Fanning 8 and D. Vivian and M. Little 4 each were tops.

In the third game, the Royals beat the Lakers 45-26. For the Royals, B. Long 15, J. Burns 12, and W. Powell and M. Morreo 10 were tops. For the Lakers, M.

Sadowski 23 and M. LeBlanc and C. Parisi played well.

In the final game The Warriors squeaked by the Hawks 17-16. For the Warriors, M. Fanning 11 and A. Robinson and B. Messersmith 4 paved the win. For the Hawks J. Brennan, P. Iannazzi, and W. Maroney were tops.

With a third of the season over, the standings are as follows: Celtics 3-1; Cougars 3-1; Chargers 3-1; Hawks 2-2; Warriors 2-2; Royals 2-2; Lakers 1-3; Bullets 0-4.

The top offensive team is the Royals with 109 points scored. The top defensive team is the Chargers with only 60 points scored against them.

The top ten scorers are as follows: M. Sadowski 62; A. Monach 41; J. Bowen 38; M. Fanning 37; W. Boland 33; J. Brennan 32; J. Burns 30; S. White 28; C. Messersmith 27; and M. Morreo 27 points.

There will be no games Saturday, Dec. 24. Games will resume the following week on Dec. 31.

Midgets Lose Nip & Tuck Game

The Andover Hockey Association's Midget team suffered an 8-3 defeat at the hands of the Wakefield High School Freshmen in the season's opener played on Sunday.

Wakefield put the game away by scoring five goals in the third period while Andover forced tired as the game progressed.

Through the first two periods, the teams battled at a rather even pace. Wakefield led at the end of the second stanza by only a 3-2 count.

The first period was scoreless until Wakefield's Comeford converted a pass from Schmidgall with seven seconds left in the period to give the visitors a 1-0 lead. An earlier Andover goal was nullified because of a ruling that went into the goal off an Andover player's leg.

Both teams scored twice in the second frame as play continued to be even. Andover's Steve St. Jean, playing his first game, tied the score at 5:17 as Paul McNamara set him up in front of the goal with a perfect pass.

Wakefield came right back, however, and their first line struck for its first of six goals. At 8:49 Keough gave Wakefield a 2-1 lead with an assist going to Wheeler.

Andover remained in contention as they battled back to a 2-2 deadlock when, at 12:49, Steve Weiner scored on a 25-foot shot after taking a pass from Mark Hockmeyer who had carried from deep in his own end of the ice.

Twenty-two seconds later Wakefield's strong first unit put the visitors in front to stay as Cox scored with an assist from Keough at 13:11.

The third period began at a furious pace as both teams scored in the first minute. Struzziero notched Wakefield's fourth goal at the twenty second mark with Keough assisting. Andover came right back as Doug Grange netted a goal from right in front of the cage as he knocked in a pass from McNamara which went right across the goalmouth.

But by the middle of the third period, Wakefield began to overpower the local six as Cox scored at 8:05 and Keough again at 8:11. Grady then added Wakefield's seventh goal as he went in all alone on Andover goalie Derrick Wreden at 11:04. Cox closed out the scoring 3 seconds from the buzzer as he scored his third goal of the game.

In spite of the score Wreden was singled out for a fine performance in the Andover nets as he made several sparkling saves during the course of the game.

Andover's next home game will be on Friday when they entertain the Reading Freshmen at 8:00 p.m. at the Phillips Academy rink.

The lineups:
Andover: Goal, Wreden; Defense, Hockmeyer, Anderson; Forwards, Morgan, Ganley, Orange, Spares, Bruno, Mundy, Ellis, Fahey, McNamara, Rogers, Miner, Wreden, St. Jean, Weiner, Mami. Wakefield: Goal, Cass; Defense, Cardillo, Corry; Forwards, Cox, Keough, Struzziero; Spares, Grady, Roberto, Emerson, Comeford, MacHugh, Schmidgall, Wheeler, Gerry, Gass.

organization will be to support Victor A. Lutnicki, executive vice president elect in those phases of his duties involving company expansion and diversification projects.

The department will be specially charged with evaluating and developing new markets and new products to keep John Hancock abreast of changes in economic and marketing conditions.

Slater said the department initially will be staffed with experienced personnel from the company's insurance, marketing, finance and group insurance areas.

This nucleus will be augmented by a limited number of specialists whose skills currently are not available within the John Hancock organization. In addition, it is planned to expand the department's basic research capacities by assignment on a rotating basis of certain actuarial and management trainees to staff special projects.

Weaver joined John Hancock in 1949 as director of group research. He was elected a second vice president in 1957 and became a vice president last February.

An honor graduate in mathematics from McGill University, Weaver served five years in World War II as navigator with the Royal Canadian Air Force in the Atlantic and Pacific theaters.

He is a fellow in the Society of Actuaries and the Academy of Actuaries, he represents John Hancock in the Canadian Life Insurance Assn., is a consultant to the U. S. Surgeon General and has served on liaison committees with the American Medical Assn. and the American Hospital Assn.

He recently was named by Gov. John A. Volpe as a member of the Massachusetts Rehabilitation Planning Commission. He is a director of Goodwill Industries of Boston and a member of the executive committee for the United Community Services Rehabilitation Council.

He is married and has two sons.

Season's Greetings

Hungarian Carollers - The design for a UNICEF card contributed by the Hungarian artist, Lajos Vincze.

A Reason To Hope

Another Christmas has come and the world seems very little different than it was a year ago.

Has it made a difference - the birth of Jesus Christ? Has mankind been substantially influenced by his teachings and those of the wise men of many civilizations who have agreed with him that the world and its people would benefit immeasurably from the acceptance of peace and goodwill as daily objectives?

It is frequently difficult to believe that anyone has been listening. The simple formula for human behavior that he recommended has been broadcast around the globe ceaselessly for more than 1900 years, and still men abuse and war with one another.

But occasionally something happens to encourage faith in the ultimate wisdom of man. Occasionally a massive human reaction to the need of others convinces us that fever have been deaf to the message of love than we sometimes suppose. With an outpouring of compassion, numbers of people reveal with a single act that they do believe in the worth of the individual and the brotherhood of man.

The response last week of hundreds of volunteers to the call for the rare type of blood needed to help medical men in their fight to save the life of a young Andover woman is an example.

It is an isolated incident. But however plagued we are by the thought that men do not consistently show such concern for one another - day to day and under less dramatic circumstances - we cannot take away from the fact that just last week more than 400 people were willing to give of themselves in an attempt to sustain the life of another.

It is news that suggests one reason for renewed hope at Christmastime, 1966.

Appreciation

The men of the Andover Fire Department outdid themselves this year in getting together a parade as a suitable showcase for Santa Claus.

The papier mache dragon, the floats, the bands and all the rest contributed to making the 1966 parade one of the finest the town's firefighters have ever produced.

The Santa parade is an annual project of the men in Andover's department. A great many people do not realize this.

They stage it and finance it as a volunteer contribution to the holiday festivities and to the community.

For the townspeople, we express here a word of appreciation . . . and include a particular compliment for Lt. Harold Hayes and his committee, the men who planned this year's parade.

Congressman Wendell Wyatt of Oregon says, "Inflation is creating new classes of poor faster than any poverty program can help them." He also contends, ". . . An increase in taxes . . . will not cure our problem unless accompanied by a decrease in spending."

Down the Years

75 Years Ago - December, 1891 Will and Jarry Graves, Cecil Bancroft and F. Ryder are at their homes in town for the holidays. Dennis Sweeney is to have erected a new building, where the fish market on Central Street stands. It will be a two-story building, to be used for store and tenement.

Walter Morse, the errand boy at the Tyer Rubber factory, was presented with a silver watch and chain Wednesday evening by the employees of the company.

Please ask your readers, if the warning be not already too late, to be on their guard against a young man of glibest speech and most irrepressible persistence, who is calling at every house with this errand. He solicits a cabinet photograph of some member of the family which he agrees to return in a short time with a life-size portrait, absolutely free of charge . . . while he shows his voucher, he keeps his thumb over one corner on which is the little statement, Price of frame, $3.50. In other words, the favored recipient of the gift picture will find himself compelled to pay $3.50 for a frame, doubtless of the most ordinary kind.

50 Years Ago - December, 1916 Miss Irene Odlin is spending her Christmas recess with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Odlin, Main Street.

It is reported that the National Ice Co. of Lawrence, has purchased the property in Frye Village known as the Beehive and also the ice privileges of Hussey's Pond and intend to erect ice houses there.

The vision of a coal barge discharging its cargo at the mouth of the Shawheen River is after all not so far away as it was when first proposed. One by one the various impediments are removed and while the present method of following dew along the lowlands of the South is likely to obtain during the Democratic administration in Washington, we are going to see slowly but surely the coming of transportation in the Merrimac River, at least as far as Lowell.

The local meeting held last evening to protest against the deportation of Belgians was a fitting addition to the many similar protests rising in all parts of the civilized world at the present time.

25 Years Ago - December, 1941 After forty years' membership, Harvey G. Turner, who runs an extensive farm out on the Reading road, became state master for the state Grange a few weeks ago.

A special town meeting has been called for next Monday, Dec. 29, to act upon the financing of defense costs and other measures not connected with the emergency but necessary at this time. In all, the sum of $14,893 will be asked for civilian defense.

Greetings From Vietnam

This issue of the TOWNSMAN is being sent abroad to those men in Vietnam whose families submitted names to the Townsman Operation Morale listing. It is our holiday greeting to those men of the Armed Forces who must spend their holiday in close proximity to a battlefield.

These fighting men have already received countless messages from individuals and groups that responded to the opportunity to express their appreciation for the devotion of these soldiers to their wartime duty.

Such special recognition is not meant to diminish the importance of the job being done around the world by others who wear the uniform of the United States in America. It is simply intended as a show of support for those who have the roughest current assignment.

We are reprinting here a letter from one such American soldier.

To the Editor of the TOWNSMAN:

"I would like to take this opportunity to express my thanks to the many, many kind people in Andover who have sent me Christmas cards and packages. Unfortunately, as much as I would like to, I simply do not have the time to thank each person individually. But I do want the senders to know that their gifts and cards were greatly appreciated and warmly received not only by me but also by the other men in my unit with whom I share them.

"I showed one of the cards depicting a typical New England wintry scene to a Vietnamese soldier named Quai, and tried to explain Christmas to him. He could understand that the tall building with the steeple was a church (temple to him) but the concept of snow baffled him completely. By way of explanation I showed him some of the packages I had received and told him that they had come from America. However this didn't help because he wasn't surprised in the least. For Quai, like all Vietnamese, expects to see Americans receiving gifts from home, because Americans are rich. In fact the Vietnamese word for American is My, which means "rich person." To Quai then, Christmas is the normal way of life for Americans all year round.

"Quai's attitude towards Americans illustrates, I think, a point that we often forget. America is indeed rich, in every sense of the word. Yet many of us take this for granted and, worse yet, assume that it will always be so. Some feel that there is no danger at present and therefore nothing worth fighting for. Quai doesn't have much to lose and the only reason he will fight is the hope of a decent life in the future. What he has now isn't worth dying for. We, on the other hand, have everything to lose, including the solid reality of prosperity.

"When you are shoveling snow during a normal December in Andover you don't see any danger other than slippery roads or downed power lines from ice storms. It is hard to believe that the Viet Cong have designs on Main Street or Pomp's Pond. The truth is that they don't, but the people behind them do. This much is only too clear to those of us here in Vietnam. These people will not stop here in Vietnam if victorious, the recent increase of insurgent activity in Thailand proves that. The insurgents may be called Viet Cong, Pathet Lao, Freedom Fighters, Huks, or what have you, but the same old crew is backing them all. These aren't "spontaneous revolutions", they are methodically exported and controlled from abroad. The only thing that will stop them is a military and political defeat. I can think of no better time and place than right now in Vietnam.

"To me the wonderful moral support I have received from the citizens of Andover is a clear indication that they are fully aware of the purpose behind my presence in Vietnam. I realize that the news from here often seems gloomy but we have made incredible strides just in the short five months I've been here. Unhindered travel is now possible on many roads where four months ago Viet Cong ambush or harassment was a virtual certainty. In several villages near here farmers are now harvesting three or more full crops of rice in complete safety where three months ago the Viet Cong were stealing most of the one crop they would allow the farmer to grow.

"We face a Herculean task but we've got the equipment and the men to master it. It is only a matter of time.

"Again I say thank you to the people of Andover and I hope that this holiday season is a Merry one in Andover."

Lt. John Doherty, 55th MI Det, Republic of Vietnam

Gordon White, a student at Brown University, and Alfred White Jr., a student at Villanova College, are spending the Christmas holidays at home. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Alfred White of Brechin Ter.

Miss Virginia Batcheller, who is employed in Burbank, Calif., is spending the Christmas holidays with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Batcheller of Lowell. The town lost a conscientious public official last Sunday morning to the person of Walter Everett, who died at his Dascom home after a year's illness. His last public office was trustee of Spring Grove Cemetery.

10 Years Ago - December, 1933 Rezsoe and Maria Kun and their three small boys - refugees from the terror and misery of Russia - arrived in Hungary - are happy in their new home on High Street. The Taxpayers Assn. will attempt to limit subjects of special meeting consideration to matters of real emergency . . . It was that any article in a special meeting warrant that call for the appropriation of funds be certified by the Board of Selectmen and Finance Committee as a emergency measure.

A tentative town budget - term study in astronomy by some town officials - has zoomed past the two million mark.

On Dec. 13th, Arthur Lovejoy quietly celebrated his 86th birthday at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Kenneth Hilton of Lowell Street.

Newton A. Jones of Hidden Road, a man on the Civil Service list, has been appointed sealer of weights and measures by the Selectmen.

Mrs. Elizabeth Nadeau RN, 18 High St., has begun her duties as a public health nurse for the Board of Health.

Sherwood W. Kelly, 16 Coolidge Rd., has been drawn for grand jury duty in Salem.

James F. Mulloney, business agent for Local 1505, said after the strike vote that the offer accepted was 14 cents an hour better than the one made by the company at the beginning of the strike and four cents higher than the offer rejected by the membership ten days ago.

Mulloney said, and the company confirmed, that the union was successful in negotiating 34 of the 35 language changes it sought. It did fail to gain one of its main objectives, a cost-of-living clause.

The mood at the Andover plant Wednesday was one of celebration. There was much handshaking.

Committee approved a Punchard Trustees suggestion to this effect at their last meeting.

• State approval for the use of electric heating in new housing units for the elderly is being sought by the Andover Housing Authority. Forty units are to be constructed off Morton Street in the spring, at an estimated cost of $520,000 which is to be financed by the State. The Authority already has a waiting list for the apartments planned.

• The Internal Revenue Service spent the weekend moving into its new Northeast Service Center on Lowell Street. Normal business activities began at the Andover office on Monday for 1200 employees. The center is expected to employ 3000 by mid-March.

Tufts Tackles Negro Image

Elementary school curricula that would correct the maligned image of Negroes as "plantation mammy and Uncle Remus types" will be developed at Tufts University under a federal grant.

"This will extend for the next two years a project begun at Tufts in March, 1965," said Dr. John C. Gibson, Director of the Lincoln Filene Center for Citizenship and Public Affairs, to whom the $52,295 grant was awarded by the U. S. Office of Education.

"We intend to design studies that will supply students from pre-kindergarten to grade six with accurate information about the role of the Negro in American life. Too, we will cover relations among different minority groups in this country and basic concepts of race."

West School Program Is This Friday

Parents and friends are invited to attend the annual Christmas program of the West Elementary School Friday at 9 a.m. All the pupils in each grade will participate.

Each class is to present a Christmas song or a poem after which the Glee Club will sing holiday music.

The program is scheduled as follows: Kindergarten, Rhythm Band; Room 1, Must Be Santa (song); Room 2, Nite Before Xmas (poem); Room 3, Rudolph (song); Room 4, Original Christmas (poem); Room 5, O Come Little Children (song); Room 6, O Tannenbaum (song); Room 7, The Friendly Beasts (song) and Merry Christmas (song); Room 9, White Christmas (song); Room 8, Un Flambeau (song); Room 10, I'll Enie, LeDevine Enfant (song); Room 11, Silver Bells (song); Room 12, What Child Is This? (song); Glee Club, Finale.

Star Featured In Teen Concert

A Singing Star will highlight the three-part Christmas concert presented by the Teen Tones at historic Ruggles Street Baptist Church in Boston on Christmas Day at 8 p.m. The public is invited.

Costumed in silver with special lighting effects, the 40-voice youth choir, directed by Mildred Moore, will perform Offenbach's "O Lovely Star," "Have You Ever Seen the Star?" by Adams, and the "Hallelujah Chorus" from Handel's Messiah.

Miss Moore is a supervisor of music in the Andover public schools.

Library Staff Says

Merry Christmas

Miss Miriam Putnam, librarian of the staff of Memorial Hall, is wishing a Merry Christmas to Andoverians with the hope that 1967 will be a happy one for all. She expressed the hope also that the town will enjoy using the library collection and the beautiful wing in increasing numbers during the year to come, by buying, selecting books and magazines to take home or to read in the library in the new and pleasant surroundings.

The library will be closed for observance of Christmas on December 25 and 26, and for New Year's on Dec. 31. We all wish all of you a happy holiday season.

School Wants Computer Help

High school administrators have asked School Committee approval for plans to computerize the class scheduling procedure for the senior high school in Andover. It would cost an estimated $2700.

They submit that use of the computer to set up a master schedule and assign students on the basis of age, ability and career interest could be handled in a fraction of the time it now takes professional personnel to do the job during the summer months.

The data processing service is available through the New England School Development Council, an affiliate of Harvard University. Thirty-seven systems now use the service for which they pay an initial fee of $300 plus additional fees at the rate of $3 per student.

Duxbury Has New LTI Post

Appointment of Victor Duxbury of Andover as technical director of the research and development division of the Lowell Technological Institute Research Foundation was announced today by executive director Dorrance H. Goodwin.

In his new capacity Duxbury will be responsible for direction of the overall activities of the leather, paper, plastics and textile groups which comprise the division.

He was previously production controller for Madura Mills in Madurai, South India. Prior to that, he held important posts within the textile industry in India and England.

Duxbury was graduated from the College of Technology, University of Manchester, England, and is a Fellow of the Textile Institute. He was a member of the faculty of the Provincial Institute of Textile, Hamilton, Ontario, and later returned to the University of Manchester, where he held the position of lecturer, engaging in research and teaching textile processes and fabric structures.

MRS. WILLIAM P. SANDRIDGE JR.

Sandridge - Yeager

Jane Carolyn Yeager, a former Andover resident, and William Pendleton Sandridge Jr. of Winston Salem, N. C. were married Dec. 10 in a candlelight ceremony in the First Presbyterian Church at Winston Salem.

Rev. David A. Burr performed the ceremony. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sherman Yeager, 309 Sherwood Forest Rd., Winston Salem, formerly of Andover. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Pendleton Sandridge, Jr., 1857 Virginia Rd., Winston Salem.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an ivory peau de sole gown designed with a bateau neckline, a bodice of Alencon lace and pearl beading and bell sleeves. The detachable cathedral train was appliqued with Alencon lace and attached to an A-line skirt. The bride's headpiece was a lace mantilla and she carried a cascade of white butterfly roses and carnations centered with a white orchid and mixed with holly.

Her twin sisters, Miss Georgia Anne Yeager and Miss Cynthia Ann Yeager, were the maids of honor. They wore emerald crepe gowns styled with Empire waistlines and A skirts and carried white fur muffs trimmed with red poinsettias, velvet ribbon and holly.

Miss Judith Ann Bernath of Atlanta, Ga., Mrs. Leonard Lord Elden of Grifton, N. C. and Miss Forrest Whitley Vogla and Mrs.

Louis Edwin Watts Jr. of Winston Salem were the bridesmaids. Their gowns were identical to those of the other attendants.

William P. Sandridge was his son's best man and the ushers were Dr. C. Duncan Cater of Eatonton, N. J., Edward K. Crawford, New York City, William N. Bond, Charles M. Davis, Stephen L. Nash, Donald W. Memory and J. K. Norfleet of Winston Salem.

Mrs. Yeager wore a red peau de sole dress with a white orchid for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother wore a white orchid on a pink peau de sole and lace gown.

A reception was held at Forsyth Country Club, Winston Salem, following the ceremony after which the couple left for a wedding trip in Mexico.

The bride is a graduate of the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi Sorority and Valkyries, the women's honorary. She is assistant branch manager of Wachovia Bank & Trust Co. in Winston Salem.

Mr. Sandridge is a graduate of Episcopal High School, Alexandria, Va., the University of North Carolina and the University of Virginia Law School. He is associated with the law firm of Womble, Carlyle, Sandridge and Rice in Winston Salem.

The couple will be at home after Jan. 1 at 2990 Carriage Dr., Winston Salem, N. C.

McVey Takes

March Post

Gerald M. Lewis, 1967 Andover March of Dimes Chairman, has announced the appointment of Paul McVey of the Arlington Trust Co. as treasurer for the January drive against birth defects.

The Andover chairman stated that Birth Defects do not happen to "other people" or "other people's children" - they are universal. Some defects can be hidden for years and then take their toll of parents, breadwinners and homemakers.

The local campaign goal for January, $6,000, will be raised through the efforts of volunteers.

It sometimes happens that the man with the most magnetism is the one who gets things coming his way.

Obituaries...

Mrs. DesRoches

Buried Monday

A high Mass of requiem was held at St. Augustine's Church Monday for Carol Perry DesRoches, the 22-year-old Andover wife and mother for whose life a week-long battle was waged at St. Elizabeth's Hospital of Boston.

Mrs. DesRoches died at 11:30 a.m. Dec. 16. Her death was attributed to an overwhelming terminal infection which occurred in the last 24 hours of life. The resulting toxicity reversed the which doctors had classified up to that time as hopeful progress.

During her hospitalization, more than 400 people volunteered blood for the frequent total blood exchanges given in an effort to arrest the disease hepatitis.

Born in Wakefield, Mrs. DesRoches was the daughter of James O'Leary and Bernice M. O'Leary of Andover. She had lived in Andover 11 years and attended St. Augustine's Church.

She is survived by her husband, Paul E. DesRoches; her mother, Mrs. O'Leary; two sons, David and Paul; and two brothers, Marvin Perry of Kingman, Ariz. and Robert Brewer of Hattiesburg, Miss.

Burial was in Spring Grove Cemetery.

MRS. MARY HRINIAK

Mrs. Mary (Wrobel) Hrinia, 51 Summer St., died Dec. 18 at Pine Crest Nursing Home, North Andover, after a short illness. She was 88.

Though born in Poland, Mrs. Hrinia lived most of her life in Lawrence. She came to Andover 14 years ago.

She is survived by four sons: Theodore of Lawrence; Michael

BUSINESS PROFILESColorful Display Of Christmas Flowers

On every special occasion, and particularly during the holiday season, you can "Say it with Flowers" in a most delightful way if you make your selection at Valentine Flowers, located at 27 Main Street in downtown Andover. This friendly shop carries all kinds of flowers and plants and specializes in creating fine floral sprays, corsages and baskets for any occasion. Whatever you desire in the way of holiday floral gifts, Valentine Flowers will be most happy to serve you. If you are looking for last minute gift ideas for Christmas, why not consider expressing your thoughts with a beautiful Poinsettia from Valentine's? Another suggestion in keeping with the festive holiday mood is to send a lovely corsage from Valentine's to your New Year's Eve hostess.

Whatever flowers or plants you choose from Valentine's you can be assured that they will be fresh when delivered. They have all been grown in local greenhouses. With this convenient direct flower supply, Valentine's is able to process, prepare and deliver orders in a matter of hours. All you do is leave your order at Valentine's. Deliveries are made two and three times daily to areas in Andover, Greater Lawrence and Lowell. There is no delay, no waiting for orders to accumulate before deliveries are made. If your loved ones do not live in this area, Valentine's can also serve you, as they are a dealer for F.T.D., a national wire flower service with 11,000 members. This means that they can assure delivery anywhere in the United States and Canada.

If you need help with your selection of flowers for friends or relatives, Valentine's invites you to stop in when you are downtown and pick up a Floral Selection Guide or view some of the exquisite sample arrangements displayed in the shop. If you prefer, you may simply phone Valentine Flowers at 475-2929 and they will take care of everything for you. See how easy it can be to express your thoughts at this happy holiday season with "Flowers from the Heart" from Valentine Flowers.

of clergy and lay leaders to promote the success of the $20 million American Baptist World Mission Campaign. The Bay State's goal: $1,058,000.

The new funds will be used to expand Baptist missions in the US and around the world, especially in training native leaders to head the Christian program in their respective lands, to meet the population explosion and establish more healing and pioneer ministries.

Vale Church Breaks Ground

Rev. Robert Bosdorf, several members of his congregation and officials representing two religious denominations turned spadefuls of dirt at a special ceremony Sunday, breaking ground for the new Ballard Vale United Church which is to be built at the corner of Hall Street and Clark Road.

The activities at the site were preceded by a worship service in the present church where Rev. James K. Mathews, bishop for the Methodist Church in the Boston area, was the principle speaker. He used the Biblical Christmas story as his text and related it to the mission of the church and the role of the church in the community.

Others participating in the service were Rev. Bosdorf, District Supt. William J. Ogle, Rev. Leslie H. Johnson, executive secretary for the New England Conference Board of Methodist Missions and Rev. A. Karl Phillips, area minister for the United Church of Christ.

Helping to break ground for the 160-seat sanctuary and two story educational wing were Neal Mitton, chairman for the church building committee; Ernest Hall, chairman of the board of trustees and contractor for the construction job; Robert Rabenius who is responsible for moving and renovating the Kibbee House which will become the United Church parsonage; Mrs. Louise Mears, president of the Women's Guild, representing the women of the church; and Arthur Baker, church school superintendent.

The church is to be built in time for September 1967 occupancy. The Ballard Vale United Church, organized in June, 1955, is the result of the merger of the United Congregational Church of Ballard Vale and the Ballard Vale Methodist Church.

The pulpit is supplied by the Methodist Church, Methodist hymnals are used in the worship service and Methodist curriculum materials are used in the Sunday School. Mission money is divided between the two denominations and the church elects delegates both to the Methodist Conference and to the Massachusetts Conference of the United Church of Christ.

SANTA AND A HELPER dropped in at a Christmas party underway Sunday at the West Andover Community Assn. building where some 125 children and youngsters had collected for his visit. Santa had a discussion with Steven

Athletic Proposal Examined

Athletic Director Donald Dunn this week pointed out some of the problems that would be created for his department if the School Committee moves to restrict school coaches to work with a single sport in any one academic year.

Such a restriction was proposed by Committeewoman Virginia Cole at the Dec. 13 meeting and immediately supported by members Frederick Fitzgerald and Robert Sherman. Committeeman William Doherty expressed firm opposition to the suggestion, however, and succeeded in delaying final action until a recommendation could be sought from Mr. Dunn.

The athletic director is in the process of preparing his report for the committee and said that he would not go into the content of his recommendation until after the policy board has seen it.

He did discuss the present coaching program, however, and pointed out some of the factors that must be considered in advance of any decision on Mrs. Cole's motion.

Dunn said he has spent the past ten years recruiting teachers for the Andover system who could strengthen the athletic program and he pointed to the "fantastic record" made in that period as an indication of "quality coaching."

He said that in recruiting he followed the instructions of Supt. Edward I. Erickson in looking "first for a teacher, and then a coach." As a result, he said, the town's head coaches are classified as some of the leading teachers in the system. One has been made a department head, another spent the summer writing the history program currently in use and several have been honored for their records in various ways, the athletic director added.

He said the opportunity for the extra income available to coaches had served as an inducement for some of the married teachers recruited. Most married male teachers have to have some additional income in order to provide homes for their families, he said. Coaches, instead of working outside the framework of the school as many teachers do, simply take on extra jobs that relate to the school program, Dunn said in comparing the after hours schedules of coaches and other teachers.

Coaching Hours

He said there had been some misconceptions aired in the School Committee discussion of coaching hours and he particularly mentioned the figure of 700 hours for the football coach. This covers the coach's work over the period of an entire year (including the summer), rather than just during the span of a football season, he said. This works out to little more than two hours a day over the course of a year, the director said, adding that many people devote a comparable amount of time to hobbies without neglecting their occupations.

Director Dunn reports that he has 12 coaches covering 29 coaching positions, which means that all but one teacher is involved with two teams as either coach or assistant coach. If hockey is added to the schedule next year, two more will be needed.

He said the School Committee would have to consider the question of how he could staff the available coaching positions if the proposed policy is adopted. He said that there are not now enough teachers in the system who are qualified to handle the coaching jobs that would be freed by a one-sport restriction.

Dunn went on to say that in his opinion there is no difference between a coach and a teacher - they are identical. He said the Andover athletic program offers an "educational experience" and is not just a sports program in the limited sense of that term.

He explained also that the program is organized so that coaches are available to students and teachers after school whenever asked. (This was one of the points raised in the discussion on the availability of coaches for conferences, in-service training, curriculum studies etc.) Under the departmental system, Dunn said, assistants take over when the coach has other responsibilities.

He added that in his opinion coaches are more readily available for after-hours professional duties than those teachers who leave at the end of a school day to take degree work at colleges in the area.
